

Dear CI MED Students,

Please find the revised and approved guidelines around Health Maker Coin usage to support student research and innovation efforts. All research/innovation funding use requests from the maker coin funding will require review and approval through the Office of Research and Innovation.

Funding decisions will be allotted through the Associate Dean for Finance and Administration's office in the college based on funding availability.

All review and funding decisions are considered final and not subject to appeal. Requests for travel or publication costs also must still follow the Student Travel Scholarship and Reimbursement Policy and the Student Publishing Policy.

It is required that students reserve a minimum of $5,500 of the $10,000 Health Maker Coin funds (if planning to use maker coin funding for your first meeting and/or publication before completion of the capstone) to be allocated towards completion of the capstone and data science project(s).

Funding (up to $500) for non-capstone research projects and innovation prototyping costs will not be available until a tracking process is established in the college which we anticipate to be in place by April 1, 2024.

The Office of Research and Innovation
